As an Art director: at the fulcrum of many different communication skills whilst being in control of the concept. Worked with many of the best names in photography.

As a photographer: fascinated with found abandoned things – an antidote to the contrived, retouched images of advertising.

As a conceptual artist: uses skills in multi media to combine all the disciplines.

As an 'artist' the catalyst for creative change
This addresses the fine artist / commercial art contradiction of desiring to self express whilst still being of service to the world
